Theatre Reverb, the young Brooklyn-based company of multidisciplinary artists that received "audience choice" and "sold out" awards from the 2008 FRIGID New York Festival, was featured on Polish television's Oblicza Ameryki, and is in residency at Galapagos Art Space in New York, is pleased to announce that they are seeking opportunities to present their latest production Reliquum.

Reliquum

Theatre Reverb's newest sensual fantasy production is loosely inspired by Fritz Lang's classic film Metropolis which serves as the piece's thematic backdrop and a basis to explore themes of dystopia, violent revolution, and terrorism as a modern warfare. The hybrid mixed media spectacle is told using cinematic devices, live action, and Indian dance theatre techniques. The artists use live video feed and audience interaction to involve spectators in the production's narrative and to create a work that ultimately envelops both its own source media and its audience. Theatre Reverb began development of this work in Kerala, India where they trained in the Classical Sanskrit dance theater kutiyattam to inform the telling of their contemporary epic.
